Procedures

Once you have found accommodation to rent you may need to go through a few processes to secure the accommodation. These may include:

- Referencing (including proof of identity, credit worthiness and affordability checks)
- Setting up a tenancy agreement (a legal document)
- Agreeing the moving in date (commencement of tenancy)
- Arranging insurance for your belongings (contents insurance)
- Providing a deposit (to be held in an approved tenancy deposit scheme)
- Preparation and agreement of inventory (including meter readings and the property condition)
- Payment of first rent instalment (this may be in advance of the tenancy starting, to secure the letting)

From 1st June 2019 tenants will no longer be liable for paying fees to those letting accommodation.

Tenants' Rights and Responsibilities

Before you move into your accommodation it is helpful to know your rights and responsibilities.

Your rights include being able to live in your home undisturbed and to live in a property that's safe and in a good state of repair.

Your landlord must keep the property safe and free from health hazards; this includes gas, electrical and fire safety. Further health and safety information and guidance for tenants can be found here:

- www.gov.uk/private-renting/your-landlords-safety-responsibilities

Your responsibilities include giving your landlord access to the property to inspect it or carry out repairs. A landlord has to give at least 24 hours' notice and visit at a reasonable time of day, unless it's an emergency and they need immediate access. A tenant must also:

- Take good care of the property, for example turn off the water at the mains if you're away in cold weather
- Pay the agreed rent, even if repairs are needed or you're in dispute with your landlord
- Pay other charges as agreed with the landlord, for example Council Tax or utility bills
- Repair or pay for any damage caused by you, your family or friends
- Only sublet a property if the tenancy agreement or your landlord allows it
